University of Winnipeg's Division of Continuing Education Graduation: A Celebration of Lifelong Learning

WINNIPEG— Graduation is a time for celebration. It marks the end of one journey, and the beginning of another. For The University of Winnipeg's Division of Continuing Education (DCE) students, it is a milestone in a lifelong endeavour.

“Continuous learning is critical in today's workplace,” says Annabelle Mays, Dean of Education and DCE. “DCE provides the link between what you need to know and what you want to do. We give students the tools to advance professionally and to get what they want from their careers.”

President & Vice-Chancellor Lloyd Axworthy, DCE faculty and staff, and Alumni Association President Debra Radi invite family and friends to honour the graduating class of 2004. This is DCE's seventeenth annual graduation ceremony.

The University of Winnipeg's Division of Continuing Education annual graduation takes place:

Friday, October 22 at 7:00 p.m.

On this day, 371 students will graduate from Information Technology, the Educational Assistant Program, and Professional Studies, which includes Human Resource Management, Public Relations, and Management.
